

A woman wearing a vibrant green headwrap, a green and blue plaid shirt tied at the waist over a white top, and a long yellow beaded necklace. She is holding a small woven basket and appears to be dancing in a street setting. The background is a collage of various textures and colors.

Dancing in the Streets.

A large, shiny, metallic teapot or coffee pot sitting on a matching tray. The teapot has a handle and a spout. The background shows a wall with cracked paint and a window with a blue patterned curtain.

*Cracked Paint,
&
other photographs*

JAY RESSLER — www.theframerypgh.com

You are cordially invited to:

*Dancing in the Streets,
Cracked Paint, & other Photographs*

BY JAY RESSLER

April 4, 2009 to May 8, 2009 at The Framery

Opening reception:

Saturday, April 4, 2009 6pm to 9 pm

Front Images

Left: Portion "Jamaican Joy in Green"

Right: Portion "Sterling Pitcher and Cracked Paint"

4735 Butler Street, Pittsburgh, PA 15201 ❖ 412.687.2102 ❖ www.theframerypgh.com